

It's (almost!) a wrap... EOY 25-26 NEWSLETTER

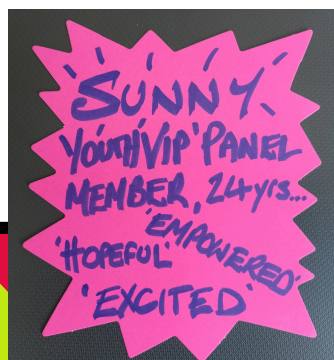

It's all about the YouthVIP panel members -

This year has seen our fantastic YouthVIP Panel members getting even more involved with the most amazing volunteering representation across Scotland:

They have investigated study findings, launched & presented reports, hosted & presented talks, led forums & roundtables, been involved in training sessions, hosted q&a's online, created media content (watch this space!) and guided on recommendations from the young peoples report, as well as a host of other internal activities including the YouthVIP panel sessions and regular involvement of activities in and around the partners of YouthVIP.

Oh, and lets not forget that two of these fantastic young people have gone on with further external opportunities to become a board member and to become a prized member of staff all from opportunities supported and developed as a YouthVIP panel member, wow!

Here is just a wee taster of what has been going on this year with YouthVIP and the YouthVIP panel members...

YouthVIP as a partnership with Young Scot, YouthLink & Volunteering Matters has produced some outstanding, collaborative work and each year we continue to go from strength to strength creating and impacting, supporting and developing opportunities not just within the local authorities and the third sector but also within business as well.

We have been involved in exclusive partner work, deeper diving to produce more practical, workable action plans allowing people and their organisations to support volunteering opportunities that not only benefit the young person but also themselves as organisations and the community around. A huge win-win for all involved!

Our exclusive training 'Engaging Young Volunteers: Turning Interest into Impact' has surpassed all expectations with even more people wanting to engage and learn how they too can get more young people involved in volunteering within their organisations.

More support and more development means more opportunity, for everyone! Here are just some of the wonderful comments received after these great sessions:

"Informative, Inspiring, Insightful."

"Thought-provoking, engaging."

"Uplifting, informative and informal."

"An essential learning session."

"Reassuring, confirming and challenging."

It has indeed been a very busy, productive and engaging year and we look forward to continuing this fantastic work with you all in 26/27.

The YouthVIP team.
